MANNINGTON LAMINATE BRINGS SYMMETRY TO HOME DECOR

January 28, 2008 – Equilibrium among furniture, cabinetry, and flooring has come to the forefront in design. Coordinating these elements into a harmonious color scheme is a growing trend, and Mannington's upcoming Coordinations collection introduction plays off of this.

Asian Plum, a fresh update to Mannington's Coordinations collection of laminate flooring, is a trendsetting fruitwood look that brings balance to flooring, cabinetry and furniture in home décor. Asian Plum features Mannington's Opticlear finish, which emphasizes the clarity of this unique grain and produces a more aesthetically pleasing visual. Its colors are created to complement today's growing use of fruitwoods in cabinetry and furniture for a serene, blended and balanced decorating scheme.

Available in refreshing colorways called Tealeaf, Pagoda, Natural, and Ginger, Asian Plum will be available at fine flooring retailers in April of 2008.
